RESTAURANT REVIEW

Ginger Garden

351 Northampton Rd/Rt.9

Amherst, MA 01002

Open 11 AM to 10 PM Daily

This is our favorite Chinese Restaurant after going to the Senior Movie at Cinemark at the Hadley Mall on Thursday. It's right on Route 9 and just a hop, skip, and a jump away.

Their lunches are very reasonable; most run about $10. The service is excellent and the food is delicious. There's hardly ever a wait.

They have Chinese dishes as well as some Asian and Japanese dishes. The tea is piping hot.

Portions are large and sometimes, depending on the dish you order, you might have enough for your supper!

Bon Appetit,

Gloria Varno

TRINITARIAN CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH OF WARWICK

October 2024

Dear Friends,

Autumn is a season of change. To many people, it signals an ending...the end of warm summer days, carefree time with family as kids are off from school, and evenings spent laughing at the lake or gathered around a campfire. For others, it signals a beginning, a time when the world slows down and cozy evenings are spent bundled up in the early evening darkness with hot chocolate and a good book.

Are you a beginning person or an ending person? Is the seasonal shift welcomed by you, or do you mourn the dwindling daylight?

Each of us is built differently, and each of us sees the world through different lenses. For some, a tingle of excitement is felt at change of any kind, while others feel a sense of loss of what was. Neither perspective is "right", it is just how we are each built as individuals!

God provides us with many beginnings and endings throughout our lives...the beginning of school, of marriage, of widowhood. Then there are the endings...the end of parenting, the end of working careers, and the end of life as we know it. Each brings with it special gifts which can help us gain insight into who we are as unique individuals, and how best to approach life, if only we pay careful attention.

In Isaiah 43:18-19, God says, "Forget the former things; do not dwell on the past. See, I am doing a new thing!" The same could be said about each and every one of us! Do we dwell on what is now behind us, yearning for what was? Or do we look forward with eager anticipation to what the "new thing" might be in our lives?

Change is going to happen, whether we are ready for it or not, whether we desire it or not. The only thing we can really control is our perception of change, and we can choose to view change in a more positive light if we find ourselves discouraged by the inevitable shifting sands of life. Maybe that ending will include some loss, but something is almost always gained if we know where to look. Or maybe that ending will, indeed, mean nothing will ever be the same again, but if we look closely it might be that we were holding on a bit too tightly to something that wasn't even all that good for us, but it was comfortable and familiar.

In this season of change, perhaps taking a moment to really see the good behind the change will help ease any anxiety you might experience, and trust that, as God says, "See, I am doing a new thing!" That "new thing" just might mean that something wonderful is in store for you!

Warmly,
Rev. Cindy LaJoy

Town Coordinator for October 2024 Community Newsletter – David Young

Town departments have identified and the Selectboard has authorized disposal of unneeded surplus Town property. I am planning an auction on a date to be announced. We have two aged police cruisers we expect can be sold for parts, old power saws, a commercial freezer and refrigerator, and window air conditioners. Higher-efficiency models replaced these appliances. Stay tuned for a sale date.

It is time to meet the Highway Commission and our Employees. If you have been around here for a while you know that Selectboard oversees town property. They are of course my boss, and a lot of Town matters run through them. The Selectboard is the Town's executive and like the Highway Commissioners are elected. They function as the executive as a body and no one member, even the chair, has any special powers. A few years back, we created a highway commission. We did it by voting to accept a particular Massachusetts general law. The effect is now that the three-member, elected Highway Commission and not the Selectboard oversee overall highway policy setting priorities and providing oversight. That is a substantial change as one former select board member discovered when he went to the commission to get permission to do a road cut and expected to follow on to the selectboard. It was not in SB's purview. Vern Bass, Bruce Kilhart, and Kevin Alden are the elected Highway Commissioners. The road boss is Matt Dorgan, and he reports to that town body. We are fortunate after struggling for a couple of years, to have a four-man crew. Besides Matt, we have Mike Truehard and Kyle Buckley, and to round it all out and deserving of special mention is Ed Matthews who has come out of retirement and assisted with the work. The knowledge he brings is immense and valued. So, while we are snug in our beds this winter with plow and sander and salt trucks driving by, these are the guys that carry the weight. It is notable that we have the Town policy that pays them time-and-a-half when they are working outside of the regular shift and no longer require them to come in during normal operating hours and fill time to get that pay differential.

It sure is nice to see the pavement work getting done. One of the things I have noted throughout my tenure here is that our contractors for plowing are not running brand-new trucks. They figured out they can make more money and have more profit if they run a middle-aged truck and keep up with it. Along this line the Highway Commission just completed the purchase of a new-to-us used truck. Instead of an International Harvester, we are getting a Peterbilt. It is 12 years old, and it has less than 30,000 miles on it. To act quickly to seal the deal, Andrea W assisted with procurement and I requested the Highway Commission— whom we remember oversee the Highway Department— to appropriate the money from the machinery revolving fund that is under their control. There was reluctance by the Commission to zero out the account, but we have the machinery account exactly so we can be responsive to particularly good opportunities. We bought a used asphalt hot box to keep the patch hot and effective longer from that same fund. So, the idea of restocking machinery account, voting money in at Town Meeting to restock now has the support of the Selectboard, I recommend it as Town Coordinator. In addition, while the Finance Committee has not met on the matter, the chair has indicated that she thinks it is a good idea. The whole idea is to have ready money and not have to call a special town meeting to act on an opportunity to acquire a piece of highway machinery at a very favorable price.

Lake Pleasant program - Spirit and Spa: Tuesday, Oct. 22nd @ 7 pm:

As part of the 150th Anniversary of the founding of Montague's Village of Lake Pleasant, David James--co-author of Spirit and Spa (2003) with the late Louise Shattuck--and Sheryl Sadler-Twyon will read excerpts and answer questions. Sadler-Twyon's great-grandparents were early residents of the village, he an herbalist and she a medium.

The book is a memoir and vintage photo portrait of the history of Spiritualism in Lake Pleasant, a village of Montague and "the oldest continuously-existing, same-site, year-round Spiritualist center in the United States."

Shattuck was a third-generation Spiritualist, and the book traces Lake Pleasant from the early 1870s as a "tent city" that grew and morphed into a religious resort for thousands, then shrunk to the quiet hamlet of less than 200 residents that it is today. Spirit and Spa also looks at the Spiritualist remnant which remains: The National Spiritual Alliance, whose core belief is "communication between humans on Earth and the living-dead in the Spirit World." All are welcome.

Monthly Short Story Hour: Dubliners by James Joyce - Thursday, Oct. 24th @ 7:30 pm. Before he became a giant of modern literature, a reputation based mainly on his landmark Ulysses (1922), James (Augustine Aloysius) Joyce published Dubliners, a collection of short stories that provide a naturalistic depiction of Irish middle-class life in and around the capital city of Dublin, Ireland in the early 20th century. Come to read or just to listen.

Whittlin' Whistles, and Thingamajigs: You never know what you're gonna find when you dive into the Library's collection. Trustee and volunteer Andrea Woods unearthed a gem recently, in the form of this hardcover illustrated volume from 1974 by Warwick's own Harlan G. Metcalf. Subtitled The Pioneer Book of Nature Crafts and Recreation Arts, the book is a treasury of creativity and practical knowledge, such as directions for making a Grass Leaf Squawker for whistling—and its more secretive cousin the Hidden Squawker, so named because it is "operated inside the mouth where it is not visible," and for which the leaf of a dandelion is preferred. The chapter names tell all you need to know, such as "The Joy of Throwing: Tips on Hurling Stones and Javelins."

Woods knew Metcalf in his role of minister, and that our own Chapel is named for him, and was surprised to learn he was also a naturalist and writer of some distinction. Metcalf himself penned a handwritten note that he affixed to the inside of the Library's copy, in which he writes: "In remembrance of the many happy hours I spent in Warwick as a boy and the many people there who made it so;" after which he goes on to mention several people, including Oscar and Greta Ohlson, Andrea's grandfather and great aunt.

Warwick Cultural Council

It's that time of year again...time to apply for Local Cultural Council grants. Warwick 's allocation for FY25 is $5700 to be used to promote the arts, humanities and science in our town. We strive to fund programs that enrich residents of all ages. In the past we have funded projects for individuals and our schools, as well as for the Library, Arts Council, Historical Society, Council on Aging and other local organizations. Grants typically range from $250 to $500. Applicants are encouraged to connect with one of these groups, if possible, to host their program.

Full program information can be found here: <https://massculturalcouncil.org/communities/local-cultural-council-program/application-process/> A sample application pdf is here: FY25-LCC-85923 Application Summary. The application deadline is October 16.

If you have applied for a grant in the past, you need only to change your password to log in to your account. If you are new to the program, you will need to set up a user account and profile.

Confused? Our new chairperson, Sue O'Reilly McRea, will offer application support at the library on Saturday, September 28th and Saturday October 5th, from 11:00 to 12:00 and will explain our guidelines and priorities. It's really quite simple and exciting!

and

Saturday, October 26th, 1:00-5:00 p.m.

Happy October,

We had a wonderful school opening! Some updates to share are:

- We had a first-ever all-school family picnic right before opening day with a wholesome and delicious meal cooked from scratch by Chef Holly Mason. Thank you, Holly!
- We have started a new tradition of community meetings on Fridays once a month, where classes share their learning with one another and engage in schoolwide songs and dances.

Coming in October!

On October 4th, we will have our 2nd annual fall Mountain Day, where all staff and students hike Mount Grace, learning about the flora and fauna and engaging in art activities along the way. At the top we will have a picnic and singalong. Family members and community members are encouraged to participate, as well. Please reach out to Jess if you would like to chaperone. October will also provide an opportunity for our Fall Open House for families on October 7th and guardian conferences later in the month. Like last year, conferences will be used to co-create students' personalized learning plans for the year.

Given our commitment to being a community school, we are looking to double our already robust community involvement in 2024-2025! We have many ways to participate. One of those ways is to share your expertise with teachers and students. Some of the initial project-based units taking place this fall include: 1) voting rights, 2) schools around the world, 3) earth and space science, and 4) Greek mythology.

If you have knowledge that you would be willing to share about any of these topics and/or you would like to volunteer to help in another way, please email one of us or call the school at (413) 768-1410 or (978) 544-6310.

For the Warwick Community Newsletter - October, 2024

From Stephen Stroud, Principal of Warwick Community School

Hello Warwick Community,

Last month I shared our brain-based approach to reading, and now I'm excited to discuss how we apply similar strategies to teaching math. At Warwick Community School, we use the Concrete-Representational-Abstract (CRA) approach (Bouck et al., 2018; Hinton & Flores, 2019), a powerful method that ensures math learning is both engaging and meaningful.

Here's how CRA works:

Concrete Stage:

Students begin by exploring math concepts using physical objects like counters or blocks. This hands-on experience provides a solid foundation, allowing them to "see" and "feel" the math. Even advanced topics like calculus have roots in this approach.

Representational Stage:

Next, students move to drawing pictures or diagrams that represent these objects. This stage bridges the gap between concrete experiences and abstract thinking, helping students visualize math concepts in structured ways.

Abstract Stage:

Finally, students solve problems using symbols and equations, demonstrating a deep understanding of the concepts and confidently applying them.

The CRA approach is backed by brain research, as it strengthens neural pathways involved in problem-solving and reasoning. This leads to more flexible thinking and a greater ability to tackle complex math problems.

You can try CRA at home! Use everyday objects to practice math, draw diagrams to explain thinking, and connect math to real-life tasks like cooking or shopping.

If you have any questions or want more information about CRA, feel free to reach out.

Learning together,

Stephen Stroud

Principal, Warwick Community School
