Warwick Cemetery

The Cemetery Commission is hosting a gravestone-cleaning session on Saturday, October 18, from 9 am to 12 noon. We had many inquiries for doing this during the Old Home Day cemetery walk, so we decided to plan a day for it. We will focus primarily on the older stones, but if you want to do family or any newer stones, go for it. They all can use some attention.

I will have several tools and items available to use for cleaning; however, if you can put together your own kit, that will be very helpful. Most items you probably already have around the house. Items needed include: hand sprayer, plastic or natural stiff-bristle brushes, plastic putty knife or scraper, rubber gloves, pail or medium-sized bucket, and rags or towels. Also, a hand-pump style garden sprayer is really handy if you have one. Bring what you can and don't worry if you don't have it all. Wear work clothes, because if you are doing it right you will get pretty dirty.

Thanks to everyone who expressed an interest and we will see you on Oct. 18th.

Town Coordinator Report for October 2025 - David Young

Some consideration is being given anonymized electronic town meeting voting. I oppose it for more reasons than the financial cost. New England town meeting has endured for centuries because it embodies a unique form of direct democracy where citizens deliberate openly and decide matters in the plain sight of their neighbors. The very essence of the meeting lies not only in the issues that are debated but in the visible act of each voter standing to be counted, lending weight and substance to the decisions that shape the community. To substitute electronic anonymity for this tradition would be to alter the character of town meeting in a way that risks weakening its role as a forum for civic responsibility.

When we speak our votes aloud or raise our hands in a crowded gym or town hall, we are telling our neighbors that we are willing to be accountable for our views. That accountability tempers our choices. It forces us to think not only of what we prefer in private but of what we can defend before others who will live with the consequences alongside us. The courage to take a position openly is an essential part of democratic self-government. It reflects both personal integrity and respect for the community we share.

Anonymized electronic vote casting offers privacy and maybe a little efficiency but those gains come at the cost of tradition and transparency. Privacy in the voting booth is our right. Town meeting is different. It is small scale, face-to-face, and participatory. It thrives on the knowledge that we are not simply taxpayers and voters but neighbors in conversation. To hide our choices behind a screen or keypad would diminish the very quality that makes town meeting distinctive.

Technology also carries risks that are not merely mechanical. Machines can fail. They can be distrusted. They can create suspicion that undermines the legitimacy of the outcome. Far more important, however, is the loss of the visible human moment when citizens rise together in public decision. That moment is what binds a town meeting together and distinguishes our Town Meeting from other forms of government.

To preserve open discussion and visible voting is to preserve the essence of town meeting. It is to affirm that in local self-government we do not shrink from responsibility but embrace it. We are willing to be seen. We are willing to be heard. We are willing to stand among our neighbors and account for our convictions. This is the heart of the tradition, and it deserves to be carried forward unbroken.

I wrote all this well before the newsletter deadline, before the Kirk assassination, and before I learned that state law says the upcoming vote on the creation of the new six-town school district is specified by law to be by secret ballot at a Town Meeting. So, I am rethinking. Next month I'll write about the proposed six-town Great River Regional School District. Meanwhile, be forewarned that sometime in November or December there will be a Special Town Meeting. I think it will be happening on a Saturday so we can give this the time this topic deserves.

Six-Town Regionalization Planning Board (STRPB) Forums

On October 2nd, beginning at 6 pm, there will be a public presentation held at the Warwick Community School on the STRPB research findings and a brief review of the proposed regional agreement.

The Women's Guild is sponsoring another meeting on October 7th at the Town Hall beginning at 1 pm following the senior lunch. The public is invited to attend this informal presentation.

In November, on a date to be determined, Warwick residents will be invited to attend an Open Town Meeting to decide whether or not Warwick will approve or not approve the proposed regional agreement. If approved, the Town of Warwick would become a member of a new six-town regional school district: The Great River Regional School District.

This district would be comprised of the towns of Gill, Bernardston, Leyden, Montague, Northfield and Warwick. The Warwick Community School would be one of six elementary schools in this new district.

A slide presentation and other informational sessions can be found on their website: 6 Towns.org

Hope to see you there!

MOORE'S POND BEACH COMMITTEE

Summer is finally over and the Town Beach season officially closed after Labor Day. It went out with a celebration on Sunday of Old Home Days. New events were added to the activities this year. First off, there was live music provided by the Boys of '69--Jim Barber and Bill McComb. Sandcastle building displayed some great creativity. Each castle was given a number. Castle #1 was the adult winner. Unfortunately, I was unable to get the name of the gentleman who created it. If anyone knows him, could you let someone on the Beach Committee know? Quinn Shepardson was the child winner. The Boat Parade was a success with 12 entries. Bill Lyman won with his Fire Rescue Boat. Congratulations to the winners and all those who participated. There were approximately 75 spectators. The sale of hot dogs and hamburgers topped off a beautiful day of excitement and joy. It gave us confidence that it would be worthwhile trying again next year.

Again this year the water testing proved stellar results despite the lack of rain and the drought conditions. We are so fortunate to have a spring-fed pond.

With the bathing season over, we now look forward to 2026. A number of people have asked if we were ever having another ICE OUT contest. It's in the works, so watch out for more info in future newsletters.

Have a great winter.

From the Warwick Community School and District

Dear Warwick Community,

At the start of each school year, we work intentionally to set our students, staff, and families up for success by focusing first on building community. At our elementary school, our values—Be kind. Be safe. Be curious. Be proud—guide the way we set expectations and frame experiences for our students. We bring these values to life in the daily structures and traditions that help make our school a place where children feel welcomed, supported, and inspired.

Shared experiences

One powerful way we build community is through shared experiences. Lunch is a great time to do this. Each day, our Junior Kindergarten class eats as a group and then our kindergarten through sixth grade students sit together at mixed-age lunch tables with a teacher, giving our children a chance to connect with peers and adults outside of their classroom. Last week we held our first monthly full-school Community Meeting, where students sang songs together, shared their artwork and stories, gave each other “shout outs,” solved riddles, and even told a few jokes. These joyful gatherings promote students’ curiosity about each other, give a platform for deliberately being kind, and provide students with an opportunity to be proud of their own learning and the learning of others.

Learning buddies

We also connect across grade levels through our weekly “Learning Buddies.” Recently, older students read stories to their younger peers, and this week together we kicked off Hispanic Heritage Month and explored the foods and traditions of Puerto Rico—culminating in making arepas from scratch right in our classrooms. By working side by side on meaningful tasks that require application of academic skills, our students practice kindness, empathy, and curiosity while strengthening relationships that span across grades. Students were so proud of the food they prepared themselves as they shared it together.

When students feel known and cared for, they are more eager to come to school each day. And when attendance is strong, students benefit fully from the rich academic experiences we have planned for them. Together, by living our values, we are creating a school community where everyone belongs and thrives.

Warmly,

Carole, Stephen & Jess
